Took myself off to Vietnam and saw these red flowers, not got a clue what they are.

Also Jack fruit, gorgeous to eat, this one should just be about ripe. Unfortunately 6325 miles away.

Lovely shrub won in raffle at gardening club Christmas party a couple of years ago. One of the must have plants from a talk we had earlier in the year. Looking lovely this year having suffered in cold winds last year.

Inspired by Carol's pictures of Guestling wood yesterday, took myself off to Pett wood today. Saw sweet violets, wild cherry blossom, horse chestnut 'candles', borage, cowslip and this fellow. So, thanks Carol.
