

Monday 11 May Day 43 of the garden journal

11/05/2020

Can anyone identify this weed?

Brenda Kirkham

11/05/2020

On the subject of plants in lawns, these pretty star-like flowers, sadly hiding today against the cold northern gale that's blowing through our garden, appeared in a patch of long grass. Even closed they look attractive with their green and white stripes.

Sandy Andrews

11/05/2020

With apologies to Wordsworth.

I wandered lonely as a cloud
And wondered if I was allowed?
When all at once I saw a crowd
A host of golden buttercups.

Inga Chapman