

Wednesday 6 May Day 38 of the garden journal

06/05/2020

Rhododendron Marie Forte making up for very little blossom last year. It's about 7 years old and less than knee high.

Vivien Ford

06/05/2020

As regards skimmia, I find the same as you Bob, with year round berries. However my plant does not look healthy with many of the leaves being discoloured. It has been like this since we moved to this garden 5 years ago and at first I simply thought that it was a variegated variety. I'd be grateful for any advice, please, as it is not a happy plant.

Vivien Ford

06/05/2020

Clematis and wisteria being companionable.

Vivien Ford

06/05/2020

I love the way Sicilian honey garlic - Nectaroscordum siculum - opens. And what a delicious name!

Sandy Andrews

06/05/2020

A bit more colour! An azalea...

Mike Marsh

06/05/2020

...and Weigela

Mike Marsh